Based on a series of popular novels, selling more than 550,000 copies, this animation portrays a story of characters with hidden agonizing pasts and blistering battles with Sorcery tribes in a dark world where guns and sorcery are valued equal.

This is a Japan-US animation, co-developed with international producers since the early planning stage, and co-produced with Manga Entertainment, one of the leading animation distributors with whom we have entered into a license agreement. US DVD sales have hit record level of 30,000 copies since last October. In Japan, it was theatrically released in June 2008 and its DVD has been on sales.

At TO Entertainment, our main business is to perform creator management and contents production, with our mission to incubate productions. We endeavour to increase the value of Japanese films, contents and creators in the international arena via our titles, with this in mind, we co-produce titles with international producers.
